Baring Foundation: Arts Programme

Arts organisations can now apply for up to £75,000 over three years towards their core costs for work with refugees and asylum seekers or their host communities.

The Foundation is particularly interested in organisations working with newly arrived refugees, asylum seekers or their host communities that can demonstrate the impact their work is making on the quality of life of individuals or communities.

Although the Foundation does not specify precisely what types of activity it will support but some examples may include:

- facilitating the integration of refugees, asylum seekers and migrants into their host community;
- challenging media stereotypes; and
- creating opportunities for education, training or employment in the arts or another field.

Organisations need to have had an annual expenditure of at least £50,000 in 2006/07.

The deadline is 12th December 2007 and it is unlikely that more than eight grants will be awarded in total. Shortlisted applicants will be notified by 7th March 2008 and grants will be awarded after June 2008.

Information	KPMG Foundation The focus of the KPMG Foundation is on education and social projects for the disadvantaged and under privileged, with particular emphasis on unlocking the potential of children and young people, up to 30 years of age, who for primarily social reasons have not fulfilled their educational potential. Currently, there is a particular focus on: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Refugees • Young offenders • Children and young people who have been in care • Children and young people with dyslexia/literacy difficulties The KPMG Foundation considers applications for the General Grants programme once a year. Throughout the year, they capture all organisations keen to apply for funding on a database. When the Trustees agree their funding date at the end of each year for the following year, they write to all organisations on their database providing them with details of the funding date, when applications must be submitted and any specific criteria defined by the Trustees.
Contact Details	If you would like your details added to their database then please email them at kpmgfoundation@kpmg.co.uk. Further information can be found at http://www.kpmg.co.uk/about/foundation/index.cfm
Information	Abbey Charitable Trust Abbey Charitable Trust is committed to supporting local communities and disadvantaged people, particularly in those areas where Abbey has a significant presence. They fund projects based on the following three priorities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Education and training • Financial advice • Community regeneration Under the community regeneration scheme they would include projects where different parts of the community work together to help improve the local area. Just two examples might be young people and older people working together or disabled and non-disabled people jointly working on a project. As well as activities which help bring different groups together they would be particularly interested in funding environmental projects. Most donations will be between £500 and £4,000. However, in Camden where they have a Community Partnership Group you can apply for up to £20,000. Capital costs can be awarded as well as salaries and sessional worker fees, as long as this does not exceed 50% of the value of the donation. Abbey will not make a partial donation to a much larger fundraising appeal. An application needs to be made by letter on the official headed notepaper of your charity. This should include a statement that you are authorised to make an application on behalf of your charity and be signed by a Trustee as well as a member of staff. Applications are assessed on a rolling programme and there are no set deadlines.

Information	Building Communities: Equality and diversity in action Conference 28 November 2007, New Connaught Rooms, London The past year has seen massive developments in the fields of refugee integration, community cohesion and equality and diversity. This creates new challenges for those working with refugees and asylum seekers to facilitate integration, at a time when Government efforts to speed case-resolutions are increasing pressure on the capacity of service providers to meet demands. This conference is set in the context of the new Home Office model for processing asylum applications and its proposals for national refugee integration services; the Commission on Integration and Cohesion's report, Our shared future; and the launch of the new Commission for Equality and Human Rights. The event will call for the distinct needs and experiences of refugees to be reflected in these developments and captured in policy making. Supported rate £130.00 (voluntary organisation)

Information	Older Refugees - From Isolation to Integration Conference Wednesday 09 January 2008, City Hall, London This conference will focus on the issues, challenges and service needs of older refugees and asylum-seekers, concluding the Older Refugees Programme - a 2-year initiative, funded by Lloyds TSB, between Age Concern England, the Refugee Council, Age Concern London and the Greater London Association of Older Women (AGLOW). Older refugees are often particularly vulnerable as they are seldom recognised as having specific needs or for the contributions that they can make to the wider society. They become isolated as a result of their refugee status and because there are fewer engagement opportunities open to older people. The conference is aimed at an audience of service providers and policy makers responsible for addressing the needs of older refugees and asylum-seekers. The day will be a unique opportunity to explore how existing and potential initiatives can help to reduce the isolation experienced by many older refugees and promote their integration in to the local community and wider society.

Information	Why women-only? The value and benefits of by women, for women services Report The Womens Resource Centre moves into the second phase of its why women campaign with the launch of a new report entitled "Why women-only? The value and benefits of by women, for women services". The report aims to answer the question asked increasingly of many women's organisations by funders and the public: "Why are you women-only?" It sets out why women-only services are still relevant and much in demand, despite a common misconception that they are no longer needed because women have achieved equality. The research explores the far-reaching benefits of women-only services, the need for minority women to run their own specific services, the misunderstandings and undervaluation of women-only service provision, and the risks to the future survival of such services. The report also makes a number of recommendations for women's organisations and statutory bodies.
